

Paramedics are Canada's first responders in a crisis and the only emergency medical providers who still make house calls. We are the first line of defence in emergencies and the front line of community health care. In this federal election, EMSCC is calling for:

- Mandatory automated external defibrillators in all public buildings;
- An end to 911 access fees and better user-location information for emergency responders;
- Debt forgiveness for Advanced Care Paramedics in rural and remote areas;
- Study on the role community paramedics can play in primary health care; and,
- A national standard of paramedic care in Canada.

Paramedics are Canada's first responders in a crisis and the only emergency medical providers who still make house calls. We are the first line of defence in emergencies and the front line of community health care. In this federal election, EMSCC is calling for:

- Mandatory automated external defibrillators in all public buildings;
- An end to 911 access fees and better user-location information for emergency responders;
- Debt forgiveness for Advanced Care Paramedics in rural and remote areas;
- Study on the role community paramedics can play in primary health care; and,
- A national standard of paramedic care in Canada.

Paramedics are Canada's first responders in a crisis and the only emergency medical providers who still make house calls. We are the first line of defence in emergencies and the front line of community health care. In this federal election, EMSCC is calling for:

- Mandatory automated external defibrillators in all public buildings;
- An end to 911 access fees and better user-location information for emergency responders;
- Debt forgiveness for Advanced Care Paramedics in rural and remote areas;
- Study on the role community paramedics can play in primary health care; and,
- A national standard of paramedic care in Canada.

Paramedics are Canada's first responders in a crisis and the only emergency medical providers who still make house calls. We are the first line of defence in emergencies and the front line of community health care. In this federal election, EMSCC is calling for:

- Mandatory automated external defibrillators in all public buildings;
- An end to 911 access fees and better user-location information for emergency responders;
- Debt forgiveness for Advanced Care Paramedics in rural and remote areas;
- Study on the role community paramedics can play in primary health care; and,
- A national standard of paramedic care in Canada.